

for filing before primary day. Yesterday's updated filings show that the campaign in fact received the loan a week later. Mitrano told the Ithaca Voice she brought on a new firm to help with FEC compliance which made the changes.

Mitrano narrowly won a crowded primary election in 2018 but lost to Reed in the general election by about 8.4 points. She declared the following week that she would run again in 2020, and is the only Democrat to announce candidacy so far. Reed is running for reelection for what would be his sixth full term in Congress.
